Dear Lynn:

Words generally come easily to me, but I'm having a hard time expressing our gratitude for your work on our Hospice Memorial Quilt. In so many ways, this little quilt is sacred, and I'm sure each square carries many tears along with all the memories.

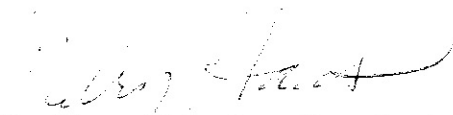

Your wonderful and sensitive quilting is the key that brought this project to completion. It is absolutely perfect, and we couldn't be happier with the result. It is now hanging on the wall in our building, in preparation for the Tree Of Angels event tonight, and this will be its official "coming out."

I expect that this quilt will create interest in the project, and will be an incentive for other families to participate. Hopefully, it is the first of several. I know these tangible reminders of their loved ones will be a comfort to grieving family members, and will remind all of us of the important work we do in hospice care.

Thank you again for dropping everything to finish this quilt, for staying awake all night to work on it, for donating much of the material and all of your time, and for finishing it in a professional way that is beyond my skills or those of any of our other volunteers.

I hope you will enjoy a little satisfaction and fulfillment as a result of your efforts for this project, and that you will be blessed many times over for your generous spirit and hard work.

Sincerely yours,

Mary Haas, Volunteer Coordinator
